From horses to hot rods to cyclists to antique auto clubs to motorcycle groups, all of these have been photographed in front of the white silos at Thompson's Mills State Heritage Area. Sadly, over the years, the brightness of the logos and the sparkling white on the silos have faded.

Good news! Upgrades of the silos are happening now, and a whitewash is also in the works. Fortunately, the artist who last repainted the original images will once again use her talents to repaint the signage, as well as the logos, this year.

The purpose of this communication is to ask if you would be willing to make a special donation to help with the costs of the painting. One donor has pledged $250, with an additional $250 if we attract matching funds for the second $250.

The project will cost approximately $6,000. A grant from the Linn County Coalition will cover one third of the cost. Now, we need your help to contribute to this special venture.

Donors of $50 or more will be recognized in the TMPS newsletter, if the donor approves. The top ten donors will receive a tee shirt decorated with an image of one of the iconic logos on the silos, either the rose or the apple.

Contributions of any size are welcome!
